Demand in Film

Monte Carlo Reproduced for "Foolish Wives."

Probably never before in the history of moving pictures has a film been made which entailed such a vast amount of detail as "Foolish Wives," the super-feature produced under the direction of Erich von Stroheim at Universal City, and which is to be shown at the Colonial Theatre Thursday and Friday of this week.

Eighteen volumes devoted to description and illustrations of Monaco and Monte Carlo were brought by LeRoy Armstrong, the studio librarian, from Nice, France, for reference in securing the minutest details of the picturesque principality which the outside world knows chiefly for its sumptuous gambling casino.

The picture called for work on a set representing a suite in the Hotel de Paris at Monte Carlo, for which the furniture and decorations were copied from actual photographs, while the towels, bedspreads, napkins and other linens were embroidered with the crest and name of the hotel.

This conformity to detail is typical of that observed for the entire film.

In one particular set representing a view of Monte Carlo from the sea, it was necessary to have majestic rows of cypress trees to partly conceal the pretentious structures from the Mediterranean.

To complete this scene eighty cypress trees were ordered by von Stroheim to be transplanted from Del Monte to Monterey.

Twenty thousand square feet of lawn were transplanted from the front lawn of the studio to the back ranch for the production of some of the most interesting scenes in the whole film.

Bridges, terraces, roads and woods were built up to make this gigantic scene true to the original.

JAMES W. STEVENS

James William Stevens of Bath died in this city May 10th of a complication of diseases following a brief illness with pneumonia. He was born in Georgetown, Maine, Jan. 16, 1872, the son of Alfred and Margaret (Hanna) Stevens. For about ten years he had been employed by the Pejepscot Pulp & Paper Co. and was the mate of their steamer when taken ill. He was highly esteemed by all who knew him. His wife was with him when he died and he had a daughter living in Rockland. His remains were taken to Bath Thursday by William L. Cook and later were buried at Five Islands, where the funeral was held.

ISRAEL W. PARKER.

After a long and painful illness Israel W. Parker died at his home, 27 High street, May 16th. He was born in Bluehill, January 4, 1832, the son of Isaac and Hannah (Carter) Parker. He came here when a young man and has lived the greater part of his long life in this city. He was a contractor and builder and had worked on practically all of our modern business blocks, in many cases as the contractor. Some of the finest private residences are also a credit to his mechanical skill. During the period of the Carter Shipbuilding Co. he made the cabins and fine work on the many vessels they launched. For this work he maintained a shop near their yard. He was also fond of the water and in later years built several handsome pleasure boats. In early life he married Miss Sarah J. Stephenson, who died many years ago, leaving him with four children, one of whom survives, Nellie S. wife of Willis B. Fletcher; both of whom cared for him in his last days. The funeral will be held at his late home this Thursday, afternoon at 2 o'clock, Rev. George C. Sauer of the Baptist church officiating; and the interment will be in the family lot in Grove cemetery. Friends are requested not to send flowers.

FRANK H. MAYO

Frank H. Mayo died at his home on Northport avenue May 16th after a long illness with cancer on the liver and few realized that he was in a critical condition as he bore his troubles without complaint. He was born in Belfast 63 years ago, the son of James and Isabel (Severance) Mayo. When a young man he was engaged in the grocery business in Islesboro. While there he married Miss Cora L. Coombs, who died many years ago. He also became a member of Island Lodge, F. & A. M., and always retained the membership. For some time he conducted a store in Belfast and for a number of years he was associated with Charles Edward White and Ralph M. Carter in what is now the Belfast Candy Company. After retiring and when he could spare time he spent winters in the south. He had represented Belfast in the State Legislature and had always been prominent in city affairs. He enjoyed the respect and esteem of many friends. His widow, formerly Miss Viola Redman of this city, survives him with several nephews and a niece. For years he was a regular attendant at the Universalist Church and Rev. William Vaughan, his pastor, will officiate at his funeral which will take place Friday at 1 o'clock.

NATIONAL GUARD NEWS

A military ball is to be given under the auspices of Co. K, Thursday, May 18, at the Armory. A few weeks ago a ball of a similar nature was held and proved a great success. Many officers of the National Guard will be present to inspect the company.

The company, under orders from Captain Foster, assembled at the firing range last Saturday evening. Tents were pitched and a huge camp fire built for the comfort of the soldiers.

There is much enthusiasm at target practice and many are showing up to good advantage.

A silver loving cup has been offered by Capt. Herbert Stevens to any enlisted man who wins it three times for excellence in the manual of arms. This will undoubtedly stir up considerable rivalry among the men.

FRANKFORT

The death of Eliza, wife of James Foley, occurred at her home in Frankfort Friday, May 12, after a short illness with pneumonia. Besides her husband she leaves five children in Frankfort, one brother, Daniel Murphy, a sister, Mrs. T. E. Constantine, and her mother, Mrs. John Eke, all of Bangor. The funeral was held Monday at Frankfort.

The links at the Country Club were never in better condition for use than they are now and those who have tried them are delighted with the changes which have been made this spring.

Sunday School at 12 o'clock.

Every person influences other persons. A well-known and successful man said: "As actions sometimes speak plainer than words, so unconscious actions and unconsciously spoken words often reveal more than those conscious and premeditated."

"When I was a young man facing for the first time the temptations of a great city, I used often, during the first few months, when both money and friends were scarce, to walk the streets of an evening, to get away from myself, to forget my loneliness and long for companionship. I was looking at everyone, is, though often he does not know it, for someone who understood, someone who had fought my battle and won. One evening, amid the hurrying, restless crowd, 'like sheep without a shepherd,' I heard a voice in front of me. It was soft and low, and thrilled me like a chance strain of rare music. The speaker was a small, elderly woman walking with a tall, gray man. Of what she was saying I caught few words. That did not matter. It was the voice that held me. It spoke to me, dimly and vaguely, but truly enough, of such pain, grief, and conflict as a boy could have but little comprehension of; and a victory proportioned to its cost. In my eager hope and boyish curiosity I passed them to get a glimpse of the face. It was lined and sad, but of an ineffable sweetness. It matched the voice.

I never saw her again. But I have never forgotten. In the weeks that followed that voice was with me. It held me like an unseen hand; it led me; and even now, after forty years, its influence remains."

"Had I this tough, old world to rule,
My cannon, sword and mallet
Should be the dear, old district school,
God's Bible and the ballot."
—David Barker.

SOMEWHERE

"Tis always morning somewhere, little heart;
Somewhere the sky is ever fair and blue.
No night can wrap in darkness all the world,
Some rift the sun is ever shining through.

There's always happiness somewhere, sad heart;
Somewhere are always love and hope and cheer.
No sorrow can forever hide God's smile,
No life is toil and grief from birth to bier.

Look up and bide with patience, then, dear heart.
The sacred promise of the dawn is true.
Beyond the cloud a glad, new day shall rise,
And what of joy is yours will come to you.

TARIFF MAKING

The first tariff bill in this country was passed in 1789 and since then there have been twenty-five notable revisions. This tariff law remained unchanged until 1812, a period of twenty-three years. Since then no tariff bill has existed for more than thirteen years without revision. The Kinley Bill was a law less than three years, the Gorman-Wilson Bill less than three years, the Dingley Law a little more than two years, the Payne Act about four years, and the Underwood Law, now in force, has been on the statute books about eight years and a half. Debate and passage of each of these last two bills held the attention of Congress for eight months and it should be noted that the time used in the debate and passage of these bills does not include the time spent in committee hearings and discussions which dragged along for more than three months in each instance. Some of the Democratic Senators have been exploding with indignation because, as they say, the Republicans are wasting time in their management of the bill now under debate. They should not forget their own time record in tariff making.

The first Republican tariff bill was passed in 1861 and since the passage of this bill there has been fifteen revisions of our tariff laws. Eleven of these revisions were made by Republicans and four by the Democrats. In every instance the Republican revisions were followed by improved business conditions and in every instance the enactments made by the Democrats were followed by a nose-dive into business depression.

Ever since 1816 the tariff has been, in the main, a political and a sectional question, when instead, it should have been considered only from a practical standpoint. In other words, there should have been more patriotism, no politics and no sectionalism. Sectionalism as between the North and the South is now decadent, but the pollution of politics and the sinister hands of local and even of individual interests are plainly seen in every tariff debate in the halls of Congress.

It is now more than a year since the tariff bill now under debate was placed in the "hopper" in the House of Representatives. It was at once referred to the proper committee and this committee gave hearings for some months to all who desired to speak for or against the bill as proposed. After the hearings were over the committee reported the bill to the House for action. Without much delay the House passed the bill and sent it to the Senate for concurrence, whereupon the august (?) senators presented, in rapid succession, more than two thousand amendments to the bill, and nearly every one of them was presented for the purpose of delaying the passage of the bill. On the first amendment there was a debate lasting ten days, the dispute being whether the duty on acetate anhydride should be eight cents or only two and a half cents a pound. The next amendment proposed to reduce the duty on boric acid "half a cent a pound." Two days were spent in debating that. At this rate of progress we fear that before the passage of this bill all the members of the present senate will have passed into history if not into oblivion. Even if the Senate should succeed in passing some sort of a bill during the present session it will, at the best, be only a compromise between two factions of warring politicians. Even if a really good bill should be enacted our tariff troubles would not be over. They will recur with about the usual frequency.

The most healthy and robust tariff bill can have but a short life because business conditions are constantly changing and becoming more intricate. We have today a population of more than 100,000,000 people. Sixty years ago we had a population of about 32,000,000. Our annual increase has averaged more than 1,250,000. That rate of increase will probably continue and in ten years from now

FRUIT CURES RHEUMATISM

"FRUIT-A-TIVES", The Famous Fruit Medicine Proves It.

MRS. ANNIE PAGE

CANASTOTA, NEW YORK.

"I feel it my duty to write to thank you for the wonderful benefit I have received from 'Fruit-a-tives'. I suffered for 20 years with Rheumatism. I had taken a number of different remedies, but they did not do me any good.

One day last fall, I saw your advertisement in our paper so I bought a 25c. trial box. They helped me, so I bought two more boxes and I can hardly realize that I ever had Rheumatism. I can get in and out of my bed without the least trouble. If the Rheumatism ever does come back, I know just what to take to drive it away.

Your wonderful fruit medicine, "Fruit-a-tives", brought me relief when everything else had failed". Mrs. ANNIE PAGE. 50c a box, 6 for $2.50, trial size 25c. At dealers or sent postpaid on receipt of price by FRUIT-A-TIVES LIMITED, OGDENSBURG, N. Y.

this proposed tariff bill, however good it may be, will have become superannuated and it is probable that the vicissitudes of international affairs will make it impractical in half that time.

Within the last two months 1,200 employees of the Bureau of Printing and Engraving have been discharged, most of them because the list of leaflets, bulletins etc., issued by the various departments and government agencies has been cut down from 250 to 111. When President Harding discharged 23 people from the offices of the Bureau of Printing there was a torrent of wrath come from the opposition. This general overhauling of the departments and their annexes is needed. There are still left in government employ several thousands who do not earn their salt.

In 1880 the census showed that the United States had a population of 50,155,783. In 1920, only forty years later, the population had more than doubled, being 105,710,620. If that rate of increase continues we shall have a population of about 450,000,000 in the year 2000. Not long ago a writer of national repute predicted that the Asiatics would eventually spread over the world and dominate it because of their industry and economy. It appears to us, however, that this great and growing country of our need not fear the "yellow peril." There are other dangers vastly greater.

Lady Astor, who is now in the United States, ostensibly visiting friends, is also giving political advice to the women of this country. Lady Astor was born in Virginia and some years ago married an English lord, and her public utterances show that she is preaching internationalism from the highest British viewpoints. She is a talented woman and she has been given a kind reception and an attentive hearing, but she has made few converts. The loyal, home-loving and conservative citizens of the United States are surfeited with European propaganda.

Mr. Schiff, a member of the Kuhn, Loeb & Co., has recently returned from a stay of several weeks in Europe, and says: "It is interesting to note that I did not hear the League of Nations mentioned by any one of the numerous people with whom I discussed the European situation. It appears to have fallen into innocuous desuetude." This statement is from a member of an international banking firm in New York and therefore is worthy of note and credence.

One hundred brick dwelling houses, four brick dormitories, built in Bath, Me., by the Shipping Board at a cost of about $1,500,000 were sold by the Board a few days ago for about $70,000. These buildings were built on the ten per cent cost plan. The government loss in Bath is small as compared with that of scores of other places.

Another girls' camp is coming to the Kennebec river. New York parents have bought Foster's Point camp, about three years ago started as a boys' camp, and will in July have about 60 girls there. BOYS' AND GIRLS' CLUBS.

A gratifying increase in enrollment of Maine boys and girls in agricultural and home making club work, conducted by the College of Agriculture extension service, is seen in an analysis of the reports received from county agents up to May 1st. On that date the total enrollment in the 16 counties was 2050, more than twice as many as were enrolled within the corresponding period last year, and 62 per cent of the total number in all the clubs of Maine in 1921.

Sewing seems to be the most popular project, it having an enrollment of 802. Cooking and housekeeping comes next, 396 being enrolled in it, nine of them boys. Poultry has 213 adherents, plus 49 who are engaged in the all year poultry project. There are 188 young gardeners in the list and 176 who are to do canning, six boys among them. The other projects, in the order of their enrollment, are: Flint corn, pig, potato, baby beef, own-your-own-room, sweet corn.

Your satisfaction with a car depends upon your satisfaction with its performance, appearance, economy, comfort and price. These are the vital points. And you must get satisfaction in each one if you are to be satisfied with your car as a whole.

Consider the LIGHT-SIX from this angle.

It is essentially the same car as it was when introduced. It was right before it was offered. And it has made good in the service of thousands and thousands of owners. It is dependable. Its L-head motor is powerful, flexible and freer from vibration than any car at anywhere near its price.

Its graceful lines are enhanced by a lasting finish. Cowl parking lights and the cowl ventilator not only add to its good looks but are necessary for complete satisfaction.

Theft-proof transmission lock. This new feature of insurance on LIGHT-SIX owners 15 to 20%.

The LIGHT-SIX stands up in service with a minimum of repair expense. This, with low fuel consumption, means satisfactory economy.

We never heard of a LIGHT-SIX that was not comfortable to ride in.

And the price, $1045 f. o. b. factory, is out of proportion to its value. This price includes the theft-proof transmission lock which reduces the rate of theft insurance to the owner 15 to 20 per cent; large plate glass window in one-piece rear curtain, inside and outside door handles and other refinements.

And you get the priceless ingredient—prestige and high standing of the maker—who for 70 years has been building quality vehicles and selling them at fair prices.

"Government In Business."

The government spent $12,000,000 on a New Jersey "war town." It recently sold the town for $200,000. Still, there are some who cherish the illusion that government can successfully regulate private business!—Seattle Times.

Children Cry FOR FLETCHER'S CASTORIA

Thirteen miles from Springfield, Ill., there is a road two miles in length, constructed of the finest concrete, brick and bituminous pavements, that was built for the sole purpose of being destroyed. Clifford Older, chief engineer of Illinois, had the road built with 63 kinds of paving materials now for the next few months auto trucks will race over it so that highway engineers of the country may have actual information on the comparative values of the various types of roads.

COMMON SENSE VS. VISION.

Several advanced thinkers—who advance in their thinking by means of "insight" and "vision" rather than by keeping their feet on the ground—have lately been declaring that there is nothing for it but to put the government into the coal mining business. To speak with a straight face of government operation as a means of eliminating waste and extravagance must be hard for Mr. Borah or anybody else. Look at the figures of the government's balance sheet in the shipping business. Consider the lavish operation of the railroads by the government. Of course the government may ultimately have to work the coal mines. But let us not drag ourselves with delusions about it. If we must come to government operation, let us put away fairy stories and keep our eyes open to exactly what it will mean.—New York Times.

Are You Bilious?

If so, you know the symptoms—Loss of appetite, headache, dizziness, nausea and vomiting, frequently meaning prostration for one or more days with loss of nerve from your regular duties. These attacks vary in frequency and duration, but with a little more care in the matter of diet, they should never occur.

If you would use on a regular basis a teaspoonful of that old reliable remedy, the true "L.F." Atwood Medicine, you would seldom suffer from biliousness or sick headache. If you have not taken this preventive measure, a desultory fast when the first symptoms appear will usually ward off a severe attack. Keep a bottle handy for immediate use when needed. Your dealer has it, 50 cents a bottle, one cent a teaspoonful.

"L.F." MEDICINE CO., Portland, Maine.

COMPERISM.

From Maine Farmer.

The position assumed by labor leaders is so in conflict with all standards of justice and equity as to justify what otherwise would be condemned. Mr. Gompers who assumes to speak for labor and is its legal leader, says:

"A contract is a contract, but it does not imply mutual obligations. Labor may properly sue and compel contractors to keep their contractual obligations, but contractors may not sue and compel labor unions to keep their agreements."

"When a wage agreement is reached between a body of employers and a body of workers, the workers may with entire propriety take advantage of conditions and obtain a higher wage, but the employers may not because of business depression undertake to secure a lower rate of payment."

"The courts may justly deal with employers, contractors, corporations, or individuals, for the corruption of any business activity, but they may be guilty. But the courts must not interfere with labor unions."

"Labor union officials may misuse the funds of the unions—but there must be no outside supervision of union finances. No legislature should be allowed to establish accounting or auditing systems for labor union treasuries."

"As to the consent decree recently entered into by certain unions and the attorney general of the United States for the elimination of acknowledged abuses in the labor union system under which building is done nowadays—these unions have been forced upon the unions by duress and they accepted under threats."

"You must trust patiently to time and the honor of the parties who refuse to abide by their promises."

These statements made at an official hearing let in a heap of light on the police manufacturer's law (let them follow). So labor contract is not binding on both parties it is of no value to either, and if a union can defy law and be sustained then all law goes by the board. We have reached a pass where law must be sustained until repeated or anarchy will rule. There is no middle ground.

LADY ASTOR SPEAKS.

Lady Astor, speaking of her nationality, says she is fifty-five. She refers to the fact that while she is now a British subject, and even a member of parliament, she was "born an American" and remains a Virginian still. It may also be recalled that she is the wife of a son of that New York Astor who cast off his American citizenship and later purchased a peerage by liberal contributions from his American dividends to the British party.

But Lady Astor is not disturbed by this. She is fifty British and fifty American, speaking sentimentally, if not legally.

We were going to be enthusiastic over this proof of the durability of our Americanism even when subjected to the tests of popularity, she pointed out this vivacious lady. But Lady Astor proceeded to confess that "I wish from the bottom of my heart that America was in Genoa."

Upon which we know that Lady Astor is true to form as the American expatriate runs year after year. May we say in our language that her first husband was an American? Even a 50 per cent American would never have the heart to wish us to Genoa. As for her assertion that "the whole world looks to America for moral lead," it is the sort of thing that makes the average American put his hand on his watch. Lady Astor says "America will lead." She seems to have overlooked the fact that America has been to Europe once.—Chicago Tribune.

AMERICAN LEGION NOTES

To provide their community poor with garden truck during the summer, the American Legion at Nashville, Tenn., will operate a five-acre garden plot, the war veterans working the land themselves in their spare moments.

Five hundred armed American Legion men patrolled the Fort Worth, Texas, flood areas during the disaster in which 60 inhabitants lost their lives. The men responded to the mayor's call to prevent looting and aid in rescue work.

Two disastrous fires which almost wiped out the town of St. Regis, N. Y., have caused the American Legion of that place to form a volunteer fire-fighting unit. The Legion also has organized the older men into a bucket brigade.

Unique among the Sunday school classes of the country is the one at Millford, Texas, which has a membership of all American Legion men who formerly had no religious affiliations. The class is undenominational.

Winnetka, exclusive suburb of Chicago, has turned the village jail into a garage for bicycles, and one of the cells is for rent. The elimination of crime is credited to the local American Legion post of 70 men.

MAINE MEN AT CAMP DEVENS

Orders have been received at the office of the adjutant general from the Corps area at Boston announcing an officers' and a non-commissioned officers' school of instruction for the 103rd Infantry, National Guard, to be held at Camp Devens, Ayer, Mass., from May 22 to May 27 inclusive.

The orders, which were expected soon, were held up pending instructions from the Militia Bureau at Washington. In all it is expected that about 50 officers and 200 non-commissioned and specialist officers will go to Camp Devens for the school.

The remains of Mrs. Flora Kallach wife of Joseph Kallach of this town, were taken from the tomb in Elmwood cemetery, where they have rested since her death in January, and on Wednesday were interred in the family lot in Thomaston, with prayers at the grave.

Joseph Kallach, Stanley Kallach, Mr. and Mrs. G. Renfrew Wilson, and Mrs. Hulda Stone, accompanied the remains to Thomaston.

William E. Grinnell, who arrived last week from Foxboro, Mass., has opened Grinnell's Inn for the season, and is now ready to accommodate guests. For the past few months there has been no boarding or lodging house open in town, and it is to be hoped that Landlord Grinnell will be supported in an effort to keep a hotel open for transient and regular business, through the summer months at least.

Mrs. Floretta Putnam Gerry, who had been for several weeks a medical patient at the Waldo County hospital in Belfast, died at that institution Saturday morning.

The remains were brought to Searsport and funeral services were held from the Methodist church Tuesday at 2 p. m.

Rev. Nathaniel F. Atwood officiating. Mrs. Gerry was born in Searsport in 1848, the daughter of Capt. Benjamin C. and Mary (Webber) Putnam. She was married to Capt. Frederick A. Gerry of Searsport, whom she survived. One son, Wilbur, died in 1890. Mrs. Gerry spent most of her life in Searsport. After the death of her husband and son she made her home for a number of years with her uncle, Capt. Joseph Putnam. Recently she had lived at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. T. C. Russell. She leaves one sister, Mrs. Susan Carr of Haverhill, Mass., and a brother, Lauriston Putnam of Charlestown, Mass.

Searsport friends have received invitations to the wedding of Thomas D. Grinnell of New York, and Miss Blanca Mary Byrne of New York, N. J., which will take place at the Eyre home in Berkeley avenue on the evening of Friday, June 2d, at 6 o'clock. The bride-to-be is the youngest daughter of Mrs. John Eyre of Orange, and is well known and popular in the younger set of the summer colony in Searsport, where the Eyres have a summer home.

Mr. Grinnell is a son of Mr. and Mrs. William E. Grinnell of Foxboro, Mass., and has spent the past two summers in Searsport at Grinnell's Inn of which his father is proprietor. He is now with a business firm in New York city, and after a brief trip, the young couple will spend the summer at the Eyre home in Orange.

There seems to be a natural affinity between the families of Grinnell and Eyre, as Miss Katherine Eyre, an older sister of Miss Blanca, was married last October to William E. Grinnell, Jr., an older brother of Miss Blanca's fiancé. Both romances began in Searsport.

The funeral service for Willard M. Berry called a large gathering of relatives and friends to the family home on Tuesday forenoon. Rev. Ashley A. Smith of Bangor officiated in a simple service, sympathetically offering words of consolation and hope. There was an abundance of floral tributes. No one in this village is untouched by the feeling of sympathy for the bereaved family.

A. D. Coose recently ploughed up a potato which was sprouted after being in the ground all winter. He plans to breed a frost-proof variety from this seed. However indicative of a mild winter, the spring is again backward, as springs eternally are in Maine. According to agricultural reports, the spring is ten days later than last year. But the swiftness of the change and the thunder in the chimney induces perennial hope.

Ivory George, for many years a resident on a farm in the northwest part of the town, and one of the few remaining civil war pensioners died Sunday morning aged about 82. He is survived by a daughter, Minnie, wife of F. J. Clark, who has cared for him since the death of his wife a year or two ago, and a son, Henry, a student at Prospect. Mr. George has an invalid for more than a generation, and had not visited the village for many years.

From William Avery has been received a copy of a special edition of the Long Beach Daily Telegram, showing numerous views of this Southern California coast city of 75,000 population. Beautiful streets, fine homes and large business blocks abound. There are recreation piers and elaborate bath houses, everything, including a harbor constructed in the open sea by a long breakwater. The writer recalls this place as a desolate little town of cheap bungalows, two shanty saloons, a long flimsy bath house, a wonderful curving beach, and the worst water man ever tried to drink and forget about it. The world moves; but not everywhere. Down on lower Middle street automobilists are still dodging the selfsame half-dime boulders in the road which used to trouble Uncle Benne and his donkey cart two generations ago.

Neighbors to the number of thirty or more descended upon Mr. and Mrs. J. Stanley Wardwell Friday evening, where Richard Goodere, representing the H. L. Wheelers Electrical Co. of Bangor, had arranged to use Mr. Wardwell's antenna for a demonstration of the latest craze.

Mr. Wheelers and party arrived with a radio outfit, and an interesting hour or two followed. It may be that the antenna was not wholly suited to best results, and the other seemed full of code messages; but while the conversation was not as clear as when central says "the line is busy," and the musical selections not as satisfactory as those rendered by a fine phonograph, it is highly stimulating to hear a steamship tell that they were 300 miles off shore and would get up to the lighthouse by 10 o'clock Saturday morning, and to get concerts from Newark, Medford Hills and other undetermined stations. But we live fast. The wonder of today speedily becomes commonplace. The ultimate is inconceivable. The same forces in existence since before the anthropoid ape came down out of trees become harnessed and set to work by the abnormal skill of the occasional man, whereupon everyone may do it. Belated discoveries in surgical science prove that Nature is as prodigious of human life as of herring spawn. Countless men have died in learning what is fit for food. And he who first dared eat a lobster deserves a monument.

Mrs. H. C. Ellis is visiting relatives in Belfast.

H. M. Brown of Unity was a caller in town Sunday.

The many friends of Miss Nina S. Webb, who recently underwent an operation at Mrs. C. H. Forbes' private hospital, will be glad to learn that she is gaining rapidly although unable to leave the hospital yet.

About 7 p. m. Saturday the fire alarm sounded for a fire at the Ernest Gould house in the northwest part of Brooks. Autos were quickly rushed to the scene but the house could not be saved. Fortunately the wind blew from the North and checked the fire from spreading, so that the men were able to save the barn and outbuildings. The house and a greater part of the furniture was destroyed but the fire caught somewhere around the chimney and no one being at home at the time either there or at the place just below there, it had broken through the roof before being discovered by the neighbors.

B. H. S. NOLES. The senior play, entitled "The Country Minister," has proved a great success. After being staged at Brooks it was presented at Wintport and Knox. Freedom was the next place on the schedule at which it was presented, Saturday, May 13th. It is to be presented at Unity at a later date, and again at Brooks the last of May.

A very fast and interesting game of baseball was played at Brooks between the High school of Brooks and the High school of Wintport May 10th. From the beginning it was quite evident that our boys flying the colors, orange and black, would win. They won by a score of 24-15.

Through the untiring efforts of Mrs. Lulu N. Patterson several of the ladies and Milton Nickerson met Saturday and cleaned up the church. They deserve a great deal of credit.

Mr. Jewell Dowling of Malden, Mass., who has been suffering with carbuncles on the back of his neck, recently underwent an operation. His many friends hope for a speedy recovery.

Mr. Herman Batchelder, who went to California last fall and his brother Leroy who has resided there for a few years have bought a ranch in Oregon, near Cottage Grove, and with the latter's two sons who have been in the service will take up ranch life.
